

Buckingham Greenery recognized for outstanding employee development

Buckingham, Virginia (June 9, 2005) Buckingham Greenery recently received an award for employee development presented by the Richmond Human Resource Management Association and the Greater Richmond Chamber of Commerce. The annual All Star Awards program recognizes Richmond-area employers that are truly committed to their employees and have programs in place to demonstrate that commitment. The Employee Development category specifically recognizes employers who demonstrate a commitment to lifelong learning and employee development.

"Interior commercial landscape requires skill sets that are very different and often difficult to find in the same person," said Connie Hom, CEO. "Each employee must maintain a high level of technical competence while providing excellent customer service."

Buckingham Greenery's employee development initiatives emphasize ongoing, regular training programs and maintaining up-to-date chemical and pest control certifications. Because most employees have a long tenure with the company, they have established solid relationships with clients. "Each employee is encouraged to take ownership of his or her clients and have the training and trust of management to do what it takes to care for their customers," said Hom.

Hom was recognized at an awards ceremony with over 600 Richmond-area human resource and other business professionals.

Buckingham Greenery, an interior commercial landscape contractor, is headquartered in Buckingham, Virginia and has offices in Roanoke, Charlottesville, Richmond, and Virginia Beach.
